Co-President Pro Tempore Coffee, on behalf of the Senate, congratulated Senator Morgan and handed the gavel to the President Pro Tempore.

President Pro Tempore Morgan delivered the following address:

Good Morning. Thank you for your vote today and I appreciate the trust that you have shown to me. I pledge to you that I will work daily to help each one of you succeed in this coming legislative session.

Today we pause as a nation to commemorate the memory of the 38th President of the United States, Gerald R. Ford.

In the days since his death we have been reminded of many of the accomplishments of this kind and humble man.

The New York Times said it was Mr. Ford's uncommon virtue to have presided with a common touch.

He was in fact a common man that was called upon to do extraordinary things. By all accounts he was exactly the right person to lead our country through a critical time in its history.

President Ford in his later years talked about the time in which he assumed the Presidency. He said this, "It was an hour in our history that troubled our minds and tore at our hearts. Anger and hatred had risen to dangerous levels, dividing friends and families. The polarization of our political order had aroused unworthy passions of reprisal and revenge. Our governmental system was closer to stalemate than at any time since Abraham Lincoln took the oath of office as President."

Members, I think that it is appropriate that we invoke the memory of President Ford today as we set the tone for the journey that lies ahead for us.

President Ford was in office for 896 days. As members of the 51st Legislature, we will serve 730 days together. It is not a dissimilar period of time.

I believe this is an opportune time for us to think about this journey that we have before us.

As we move into our State's Centennial year, we find ourselves in extraordinary times.

Never before has a legislative body in Oklahoma had an equal number of members from both of the main political parties.

What will we do with this even split of members?

What will be our legacy when this legislature adjourns sine die on May 30, 2008?

Each of us has traveled our own path to this place. We each bring our own life experience, our own work ethic and our own values. We each share, however, the reality that the people of Oklahoma sent us here with a trust to do an important job for each of them. It is incumbent upon us to keep that trust foremost in our minds as we begin this New Year.

Members, the eyes of Oklahoma will be upon each and every one of us. It is a time to set aside personal interests and personal bias. A time to join together as individual Senators to create a body committed to the future of our young state.

We all have areas of particular interest. We have differing ideas about how to move our state forward. We have various ideas on how to best serve the interests of Oklahoma.

We will have disagreements, conflict and debate...and that is as it should be. But...we must work through those differences and come together for the betterment of our state and for the people that elected us.

This is a time of great opportunity. This historic tie and the historic power sharing agreement we have entered into presents us with an opportunity we simply cannot disregard.

As in no other time in the history of this deliberative body we can put partisanship aside. We have the opportunity to be statesmanlike in ways that have never been possible before.

I began these remarks talking about the inspiration that I have received and felt from the life and service of President Ford.

I now would like to conclude my remarks by invoking the memory of probably our greatest President, Abraham Lincoln.

The award winning writer Doris Kerns Goodwin wrote a biography of Mr. Lincoln. She entitled it Team of Rivals. She noted that immediately after winning the Presidency, Lincoln made the unprecedented decision to incorporate his eminent rivals into his political family, the Cabinet.

Unprecedented at the time, Lincoln was the captain of what truly was a team of rivals.

The story of Lincoln's political genius was revealed through his extraordinary array of personal qualities. They enabled him to form friendships with men who had previously opposed him.

He was able to repair injured feelings that, left untended, might have escalated into permanent hostility. He was able to assume responsibility for the failures of subordinates. He was able to share credit with ease and to learn from mistakes.

Lincoln's success in dealing with the strong egos of the men in his cabinet suggests that in the hands of a truly great politician the qualities we generally associate with decency and morality.

Things like kindness, sensitivity, compassion, honesty and empathy, can be impressive political resources.

I ask each of you to embrace Lincoln's qualities. I encourage you to return to this place on February 5th with those qualities in your heart: kindness, sensitivity, compassion, honesty and empathy.

I call on each of you to seize the moment at hand. Let's come together as a team of rivals and let's make Oklahoma proud.

God bless each and every one of you and thank you again.

President Pro Tempore Morgan introduced Co-President Pro Tempore Coffee.

Co-President Pro Tempore Coffee delivered the following address:

Before I begin my prepared comments this day, I would like to take a moment and introduce a few people to you. In the gallery to my left, a person who I could not do any of this without. We have four children together and sometimes I feel like she thinks she has a fifth. I would love to introduce to you my beautiful wife, by life partner Lisa Coffee. I would also like to introduce to you today an individual who taught me a lot and he also gave my campaign slogan. You see my Dad always told us that when we came in and were complaining about what we could not do, he would take us into the pantry and he would point the shelf where the coffee cans were and he would say, "Do you see any coffee can'ts up there?". Of course there weren't any, there is no such thing. He would say, "You are a coffee can, so get out there and do it.". That is who I got that from. I would love to introduce my father and mother, Virgil and Linda Coffee.

Also here with me today are my four children, Collin, my oldest, Blaine, my second oldest, my daughter, Anna, and my youngest, Kate. I would also like to introduce my mother-in-law who is with us today, Kay Lovett. Thank you all for joining me today.

Thank you all for entrusting me with this position. I hope to honor you with the trust that you have entrusted us with today.

Today is truly a historic day. There is a historic nature to what has happened today. President Thomas Jefferson in one of his initial speeches began by saying, "We are all Democrats, we are all Republicans, we are all Americans." Well certainly we are all Oklahomans here today.

Unfortunately at that new time in our State's history and in our National history things progressed quickly into partisan bickering in our Nation's Capitol that led to the party system that we have today. I would concur with Senator Morgan that we have a profound opportunity to say that this is a different time in our State's history. This is a moment to reflect and to do great things together.

I pledge to you, in this role that your have entrusted me, that I will spend every day working hard to make the State of Oklahoma a greater place with you, with your dreams and goals so that we can put the people first in all that we do.

Today truly is a day of historic nature. I thought a lot about what does that mean. We throw words around carelessly today, but this is something as a student of history that we will look back into all our history books and it is something we have never experienced here in the State of Oklahoma.

You, as Senators, have the opportunity to set the standard for this opportunity. It is something that has never occurred in the past. It may occur again in the future. People will have the opportunity as they look back in history, at what you did during these two years.

Did you set aside your partisan interests, did you set aside your personal goals to help make Oklahoma better or did we, like our founding fathers, resort to bickering and fighting.

Certainly, I think all of us who participated in the development of the agreement that has brought us here today, recognize that there are only two options available to us. One is a very ugly messy process that would have made today look like a circus. The other is one that all of you will be honored and recognized for your statesmanship. I believe the later will be the story that will be written about this 51st Legislature when it is all done. That you rose above yourselves and did great things for the State of Oklahoma and I look forward to that opportunity.

Winston Churchill once said, "It is not enough that we do our best, sometimes we have to do what is required.". Certainly, there will be differences. There will be plenty of opportunity for all of us to frustrated. As we have dealt with relationships within our families, with our children and otherwise, we all have those moments when we just don't want to deal with it anymore. We will all come to that place over the next two years, I'm certain of that. But I'm also certain that because of the character in this room, because of the ability in this room, that this body has the ability to rise above that and get things done. Again, I am confident that we will do that.

How did we get here? The past has been about partisanship and it has been about posturing and certainly, in its appropriate times, that is appropriate and necessary. When I entered the Senate, it is important to recognize that there were only fifteen Republicans. Today, for the first time in history, there are twenty-four. Certainly it is also important to recognize that the Lt. Governor is from the Democratic party. We can begin to note our differences. I hope that we recognize that as necessary and appropriate activities from the past.

Today our focus has to be on the present. The present has to be about a purposeful progress on getting things done. We have to come together and agree that there are things so important that regardless of our differences on many other issues, they have to get done. We have to get the peoples' business done and move the State forward.

We have to do it together.

As you read the rules that we have adopted today, and as you understand the process, I think you will begin to recognize rather quickly that if you make it about settling old scores, if you make it about trying to outsmart the other, it only leads to one result and that is mutually assured destruction and a very negative environment over the next two years.

This place is about ideas. It always has been and I hope it that is always will be. In the present, we have to find what common ground and what innovative ideas we can work on together and get them done. I believe if we focus on that task, that in two years we will return to partisan activities that are necessary and appropriate. Many of you will be running for re-election. Many of your seats will be open seats where new members will come and won't know what this chamber experienced. We may return to a Legislature that is in Democrat control. We may return to a Legislature that is in Republican control and, God forbid, we may return to a Legislature that is still in a tie.

Whatever the future holds isn't our concern for the next two years. It has to be about locking arm and arm as a team of rivals and getting things done. I hope that you will partner with me in doing that over the next two years.

Thank you for your vote of confidence today and I hope that I am worthy of it in the end. Thank you for your time.

CHAPTER 1
POWER SHARING AGREEMENT (NEW)

The Oklahoma State Senate has a rich history as the model of civility, stability, and leadership in our state government.

Now, as Oklahoma prepares to enter its second century, history has been made by the creation of an unprecedented 24 to 24 tie in the State Senate. The 2007 legislative session will be the first time that an equal number of Democratic and Republican state senators have been seated in this august legislative body.

While some skeptics have seen this historic equilibrium as a recipe for gridlock, we view it as an opportunity to work together to do the people's business.

Therefore, in order to ensure that the Oklahoma State Senate continues to function as the Oklahoma Legislature's center of debate and deliberation, we, the members of the Oklahoma State Senate, set forth the following agreement and pledge to conduct the people's business in a fair and impartial manner, to work in good faith and to honor both the letter and the spirit of this agreement.

The voting machine shall be under the control of the Presiding Officer and shall be operated by a clerk designated by the Presiding Officer.

B. During any roll call, every Senator present shall vote. During a roll call, the Presiding Officer shall request every Senator in the chamber who has not voted to vote. In all other cases, a Senator who fails to vote shall be shown as "excused" in the Journal.

C. On any question for which a roll call vote is not required, a roll call vote shall be in order only if requested before the question is put. Once the question has been put and a voice vote taken, the Presiding Officer shall state the side that appears to the Presiding Officer to have prevailed, and any member then may request a division, but shall not be entitled to request a roll call vote. The declaration of the vote by the Presiding Officer shall be final.

D. No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced by the Presiding Officer.

E. If a member's voting machine is inoperative, the member shall rise and advise the Presiding Officer of the malfunction; and the Senator will be permitted to verbally vote on the question; and the vote will then be recorded by the clerk.

F. When a division is called for, those voting in the affirmative shall rise at their seats and remain standing until counted; then those voting in the negative shall rise and stand until they are counted, whereupon the Presiding Officer shall declare the result.
