Division Name - Central Filing System for Agricultural Liens - 3000030

12A O.S., §§ 1-9-320.1 et seq. [formerly §§ 9-307.1 et seq.]; 7 U S Code, §1631

The purpose of the legislation that created the Oklahoma Central Filing System is “to make the laws governing protection of buyers of farm products, commission merchants, and selling agents comply with the provisions of Section 1324 of the Food Security Act of 1985 as codified at Section 1631 of Title 7 of the United States Code” [12A O.S., § 1-9-320.1]. The fees are addressed in Title 28 O.S., §111.

This system provides an easy way for secured parties to notify agricultural buyers they have a security interest in certain collateral. Since all purchasers of Oklahoma farm products are obligated to check the lien information at Central Filing, secured parties are more confident of repayment. This makes the lending environment more open and reduces risk for making loans to farmers. Before Central Filing was created, secured parties only had the options of asking farmers where they might sell their collateral and directly notifying these buyers. If the farmer is having financial trouble and collateral is sold elsewhere, the secured party may take legal action against the buyer to recover losses.

This system provides a central location for buyers to check for the existence of an agricultural lien. Oklahoma statutes require Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) liens on livestock and crops be filed at the local county level. Before Central Filing, a buyer could have up to 77 court clerk offices to check for a lien, or they may have received a lien notice from a secured party that was incomplete or illegible and could not be verified during a weekend sale. Using the Central Filing Lien system, the buyer has protection from a second payment to a secured party for the same product. If the lien is on the Central Filing lien list or if the buyer has been notified in writing of the lien by the secured party, the check is issued to the seller and all applicable secured parties. If there is lien notice, the buyer takes the collateral free of any security interest even if a UCC has been properly filed in the county.

The farmers’ primary benefit from Central Filing for Agricultural Liens is easier access to lenders to secure a loan using farm products as collateral. Lenders are more confident of repayment when proper lien filings are in place.

Division Name - Notary - 3000067

49 O.S. §§1 et seq.

The program benefits society by providing a central location for individuals to obtain a notary public commission. The program maintains a listing of active notaries and provides the public with free online access to this information. In addition, the program provides and distributes information relating to the laws and rules governing notaries public.

Society also benefits from the service a notary public provides. These services include acknowledgements, administering oaths or affirmations, witnessing or attesting to signatures, and certifying or attesting to copies.

Division Name - Office of Administrative Rules - 4000040

75 O.S., §§ 250 et seq. – Administrative Procedures Act; 25 O.S., §§ 301 et seq. – Open Meeting Act.

Compile, codify, and maintain Oklahoma’s administrative laws and publish the Oklahoma Register and the Administrative Code- pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act; Receive and maintain meeting notices of state public bodies pursuant to the Open Meeting Act, and post to Meeting Notices Online. The Office of Administrative Rules provides access to state agency rules in print, on CD, and via Internet. The Meeting Notices Online site provides a single point of access for the public to view meeting notices of state public bodies.

The OAR maintains a central repository for the official rules of state agencies and provides access to such rules through the Internet.

The Meeting Notices Online site allows state public bodies to log in over the Internet to a central data base to update and maintain their meeting notices.

Division Name - Information Services - 8800001

This program provides internal computer services for the agency. Services include: technical support, programming needs, system development and implementation, and system planning and monitoring. The Information Systems Department supports and maintains the five (5) major systems of the Secretary of State. These systems are the Business Entity system, Central Filing system, Office of Administrative Rules publishing system, Executive/Legislative tracking system, and the Open Meetings system.

It is the goal of this division to maintain all internal systems on a common platform, while automating and streamlining business processes, and providing on-line access to all business functions of the SOS. The Information Services Department generates various ad-hoc reports regarding user activity, workload, data entry errors, and filing statistics for management to make workflow, personnel, and training decisions.
